CALAMITY HITS AT 4-H CAMP AT THORNWOOD

It was discovered Sunday morning that a heavy accumulation of snow on the roof of the Kitchen and Dining Hall Building of our 4-H camp had caused it to collapse, resulting in its complete loss.

This disaster was discovered by Mr. B. B. Beard of Bartow, a member of the County 4-H Advancement Committee, during a routine check of the camp.

An inspection of the situation at the camp Monday morning indicated that there was still as much as 30 inches of heavy snow on the north slope of many of the buildings. This snow is being removed to prevent further loss.

Briery Knob Fire Tower

"The loneliest man in the business," is the usual reference to tower observer perched atop West Virginia's highest knobs during the forest fire season.

Armed with a map, a radio, and a telephone, the tower observer spends weeks, alone in these bleak mountain structures as he keeps his eye constantly on all horizons watching for menacing "Signal Seven" as forestry radio calls these new-born blazes.

Generally his food rations are bought by departmental members or friends each week; the tower observer doesn't dare leave his post for the amount of time required to go to the country grocery store miles away. The success of the Conservations Commissions entire fire preventing program depends upon his ability to quickly sight smoke from new threats. When he sights a smoke, his instruments are plotted and a degree-description is phoned or radioed to District headquarters or field observers. Enormous quarters and needle point precision is assured as district foresters contact personnel, rushing help to the forest fire.

Often small fires near the towers are put out by the observer himself, but generally he cannot leave his post for the time required to snuff out a new threat. Frequently the only visitor for days is the Conservation Commissions pilot who waves greetings from the clouds when making daily runs over the danger of the state in his radio-equipped aircraft.

Three observers serve Pocahontas County in the Conservation Commissions Bald Knob, Thorny Mt., and Briery Knob Forest Fire Towers. Mr. R. N. Williams serves at Briery Knob; Quarry Grimes at Thorny Mt. and Harry Gum serves at Bald Knob.

Mr. Williams has the longest service with the Conservation Commission in as much as he has served as the observer for Briery Knob for the past 15 years, plus observer duty in the CCC days. Mr. Grimes has served 4 seasons, and this is the second

A National Forest Tower Visit Will Be Worth The Time It Takes

The U.S. Forest Service will soon be manning its four lookout towers on the Marlinton Ranger District for the protection of federal, state, and private timber in our area.

The key tower of the local fire suppression system is the 35' tower on Paddy Knob. It is manned by Earl M. Wanless as it has been for the past 16 years. Mr. Wanless is also the District Fire Dispatcher with the responsibility for alerting and dispatching the suppression crews. The three remaining towers, Beaverlick Mountain, Sharp Knob, and Red Spruce Knob are manned by Clyde L. Perkins, Harry Jordan, and Rex Sharp respectively. Ottie Wanless, the Forest Service scaler, is also an experienced lookout and serves as an alternate when needed. All towers are

Runaway Truck Wrecks Garage; Driver Says Brakes Wouldn't Hold

At about 12:15 Wednesday afternoon the sound of a big truck air horn presaged an accident that caused an estimated $10,000 damage but luckily no one was seriously hurt.

Jimmy Sizemore, 26, of 1030 Riverside Drive, Danville, Va., driving a Mack tractor pulling a trailer loaded with approximately 33,000 lbs. of lumber, topped over Campbelltown hill headed south. Sizemore said he attempted to shift into a lower gear but when he applied the air brakes they didn't work. After trying both the hand and foot valves with no result he realized he was in trouble. Opening the air horn to warn of his coming he prepared for the ride of his life.

In an interview with the Journal Sizemore said the last time he glanced at the speedometer at about the second turn he was doing 60 and gaining speed. Coming down the straight stretch past the Campbelltown Church he saw the bridge over Stony Creek and wondered if he could make the curve. He didn't. Just as he approached Wilbur Shinaberry's garage the rig jackknifed and the lumber began spilling as the tractor slid on its side. After scraping along the front of the garage and tearing the wall out the big truck slammed into Shinaberry's sedan and pushed it into the part of the building housing the grease rack. The car then in turn tore out the grease rack and forced it through the rear of the building. The rear wall came out in one piece and, in falling, came down on the grease rack standards and was held suspended in the air by the two prongs.

Wilbur Shinaberry, the only person in the garage at the time, heard the warning horn as he worked on a car and when the front of the garage started caving in he dove for the protection of the rear wall. As soon as things quit moving he rushed to the truck to see if the driver was hurt but found Sizemore sort of white and shook up but apparently otherwise unharmed.

Sizemore acknowledged that he was probably the luckiest man in the county and added "I must have the hardest head, too" as he pointed out how the top of his truck cab had been mashed down.

The Journal took a series of pictures at the scene but they will have to be run at a later date.

THE POISONER

Yes, Mr. Editor, Boyer vicinity has one also, that despicable specimen of humanity whose heart is as black as his face is white, so lacking in self-respect and neighborliness as to wantonly, deliberately and illegally scatter poison indiscriminately. At least 7 dogs were stricken, but there is no way to estimate the number of innocent hungry wild life that has partaken of his "love feast".

Dear Editor:

I want to compliment you on the article in the Journal "Does Marlinton need a Liquor Store?" If the "wets" win, I wonder if Johnny will be the Proprietor? We need more people like you that will speak up on behalf of our town, churches and youth. We don't need it.—A Reader.

Man Goes To Liquor Store; Acts Like He'd Been There Before

An Associated Press story dated Pt. Pleasant says a Mason County man with a little extra energy to burn turned his attention to the state liquor store here early Tuesday.

After breaking the glass from a door and a window—and destroying 13 bottles of liquor and other beverages—he ended up in jail on a breaking and entering charge.

State Police said that Adrian, about 30. of near Henderson, smashed the glass from the store by throwing a piece of loose curbing weighing 12 to 15 pound through it.

Gaining Entrance to the establishment, officers and Store Ma-

Spencer proceeded to grab bottles from a display rack near the front and hurl them in all directions.

At least three went through a big front window, and glass ended up all the way across the street. The loss in bottled spirits was placed at $55.35. Melrose said Spencer started with the high-priced, bonded stuff."

Sometime during his spree, Spencer removed his shirt and shoes and donned a jacket of the type liquor store employees wear. He went to jail in that attire after officers took him into custody at a service station near the store.

In "Pocahontas Beautiful" Parade

According to Parade Marshal Leo Davis he has received assurance from Principal Virgil Harris of Green Bank High School that the Golden Eagles band will take part in the big "Keep Pocahontas Beautiful" parade to be held in Marlinton on Saturday, May 7. The Hillsboro and Marlinton bands have also accepted invitations to participate so this will be the first year that all three county high schools have been represented by their musical aggregations.

Mr. Harris reports that Miss Joyce Brannon, director of the G.B.H.S. band says that the members of the organization are looking forward to the event and will try their utmost to give an outstanding performance. Although this band was just organized this past school year, the musicians report that the youngsters are really good.

At the meeting of the "Keep Pocahontas Beautiful" Commission Monday night Mr. Davis reported that he had 22 entries to date for the parade. Other reports indicated a disappointing lack of interest by some business places while many individuals were busy cleaning up lots and having trash removed at their own expense. It was pointed out that this is the annual county wide Clean-Up, Paint-Up and Fix-Up campaign and everybody is urged to cooperate.

Pat Graney Says He Put No Pressure On SRC

Charleston—State Road Commissioner Patrick C. Graney Monday issued the following statement.

"In view of recent press reports, I wish to clarify my position in the Primary Election Campaign.

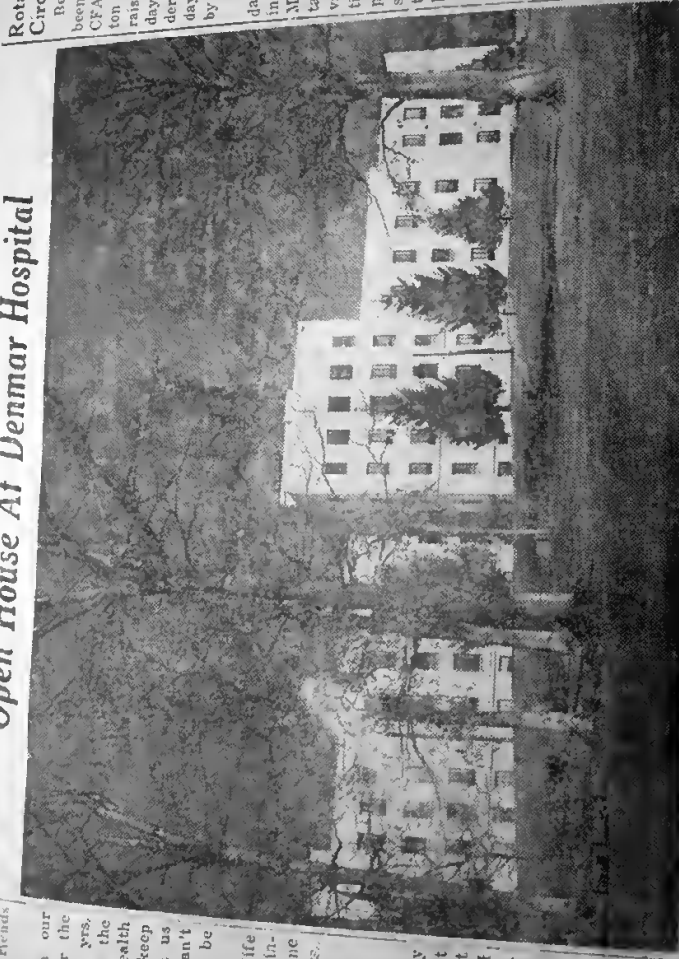

"Speaking as an individual citizen, I am for Chapman Revercomb for Governor for whose integrity and proven governmental ability I have the highest regard. I have so informed State Road employees with whom I have discussed the matter. But, regardless of press reports and speeches to the contrary, I have not put any pressure on any employee.

"Speaking as State Road Commissioner, I believe that the State Road Commission should be kept out of politics insofar as possible

Coberly For Sheriff

"The Party's Choice"

Here is why we call Coberly "The Party's Choice". This is the same man that run against Wilbur Curry last election. He was defeated by a very small margin.

He promised himself and the Democrats that he would run again next election. After his defeat he asked his Deputies and all his other support to work for Curry in the fall Election.

During the fall election he hauled voters for the Democrats, and helped elect not only Curry but all the Democrats Nominees. He gathered ballots in the Little Levels District, after the Polls closed for Grady Moore.

Coberly has worked hard for the Democrat Party, he has hauled voters, attended banquets, contributed to the Party and helped elect many Democrats to office. He is a strong Democrat, honest, efficient, and qualified for the office of Sheriff.

He is a good Businessman, has a college education (on the G. I. Bill). If you register Democrat and vote Democratic it is our firm belief that Coberly will be your choice too.

We ask all you Democrats to get behind Coberly, nominate him for he will bring us a Democrat victory this fall.

Your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated.

loaded with lumber ran wild and crashed into the building on Wednesday, April 6.

The top picture, left, shows the driver, Jimmy Sizemore of Danville, Va., explaining how lucky he was to get out alive after his brakes failed coming down Campbelltown Hill. At the right is a scene inside the repair shop with Wilbur standing about where he was working when the truck hit.

Going down the line the photos show first—how the trailer upset and spilled the lumber; second—how the rig jackknifed and rammed into Shinaberry's car forcing it into the grease rack, and third—how the grease rack knocked out the rear wall of the building and impaled it in mid-air.

The two center pictures were taken by Jim Martin; The other

Pearl Buck Cancels Talk To Hillsboro Graduates

Hundreds of Pocahontas countians were disappointed to hear Monday that Pearl Buck, noted authoress and native of Hillsboro, would be unable to keep her appointment as the speaker at com-

High School tonight (Thursday).
Principal Charles Moore said he received a phone call and a confirming letter that the lady "regretted the necessity for canceling her scheduled appearance because of an unexpected trip to Japan".

However a good speaker has been obtained in the person of have completed three years of club work to enter the Regional Competition.

The Marlinton Volunteer Fire Company had the largest fire on Sunday, May 29, that they have had for some time. A garage owned by Arden Killingsworth and rented by Everette McClure was destroyed by fire when an employee working on a truck gas tank cut the tank loose and it exploded when it hit the floor. The employee stated that the garage was a mass of flame only seconds after the explosion. Soon after the arrival of the Fire Company there was a series of explosions within the building, one of which was an acetylene gas tank. The heat was so great that the firemen were forced back from trying to remove the truck from the burning building. The neighboring buildings were slightly damaged by fire on the roofs, but the firemen soon got the fire out on the other buildings. The firemen fought the blaze for about two hours before bringing it to the dying point. The total damage was estimated at around $10,000.

AN HISTORIC MOMENT

This picture shows 281 Boy Scouts, along with their leaders and camp staff personnel, at the first official retreat after the beginning of the first season at the new Buckskin Council Scout Reservation at Dilley's Mill. The historic moment happened Saturday evening, June 11, 1960, and was witnessed by many members of the West Virginia Press Association who had just been served dinner in the Dining Hall. The reader will note that the photographer caught the Scouts all saluting "Old Glory" as the flag is lowered while the bugler sounds "Retreat". Journal Photo
